Tri-State Chinese American Chemical Society 2008 Annual Symposium on June 7 at Rutgers University

The Tri-State Chinese American Chemical Society announces that its 2008 Annual Symposium will be held on Saturday, June 7, from 8:30 AM to 4:00 PM, at Busch Campus Center, Rutgers University, Piscataway, NJ (Address: 604 Bartholomew Rd, Piscataway, NJ 08854). The symposium is co-sponsored by the Department of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, Ernest Mario School of Pharmacy, Rutgers University. Registration is free. Free breakfast and lunch will also be provided to all symposium participants.

The annual symposium serves to bring CACS members and nonmember chemists together for networking and career development. It is open to all students and professionals in chemistry and related fields. The theme of this year's symposium is "Challenges and Opportunities of Globalization in Pharmaceutical and Chemical R&D". We have the following confirmed speakers to discuss the major issues facing the pharmaceutical and chemical industry today.

Dr. Carl Decicco, Vice President Discovery Chemistry, Bristol-Myers Squibb
"Innovation in Drug Discovery"

Dr. David Greenley, Director of Technology Operations and Site Manager, Rohm and Haas
"A Perspective on Global R&D"

Dr. Timothy Guzi, Director of Chemistry, Schering-Plough
"Discovery of Novel Cyclin-Dependent Kinase Inhibitors"

Dr. James Hendrix, Director of Medicinal Chemistry, CNS, sanofi-aventis
"Challenges and Opportunities of Discovery and Development of First-in-class (FIC) Therapeutics"

Dr. Gary Martin, Distinguished Fellow, Schering-Plough
"Approaches to Deal with Big Problems Caused by Tiny Samples"

Dr. Gary H. Kruppa, Vice President, Business Development, Bruker Daltonics Inc.
"MALDI Imaging: A New Tool for Molecular Histology, Biomarker and Target Discovery and Small Molecule Analysis in Tissues"

Mr. Daniel Kimm, Vice President, Sales, Yamazen Chromatography
"Advanced Automated Flash Chromatography"

Dr. Qun Sun, President, Discovery ChemScience, LLC
"Discovery ChemScience - Your Dependable Discovery Partner"

Dr. Bing Yu, Chief Operating Officer, AstaTech, Inc.
"Facilitating Drug Discovery, Development and Manufacturing"

Dr. Jingyang Zhu, Vice President of R&D, Chiral Quest
"Embracing Opportunities in Outsourcing of Chemical Development and Manufacturing"

Dr. Xiaochun Zhu, Esq., Ph.D., Partner, Scully Scott Murphy & Presser, P.C.
"Patent Law - Another Rewarding Career Choice for Chemists and Biologists"

Ms. Xuhong Sunny Wang, Patent Department, sanofi-aventis.
"Information Scientists - Another Rewarding Career for Chemists and Biologists"

The symposium will also feature the latest advances in analytical and synthetic technology and start-up companies in the outsourcing business and a vendor show that will be open to all participants. To encourage participation, there will be prize drawings and giveaways at the vendor show; lucky winners will receive MP3 players, digital cameras, and other small electronics.

CACS was founded in 1981 as a volunteer-based, non-profit professional organization. CACS addresses the common interests and concerns of Chinese American chemical professionals. It has established a mentor program to help new comers gain quick footing in their professional careers in the US. It presents Young Chemist Awards annually to outstanding high school students to help cultivate their interests in chemical sciences.

We welcome all members and non-members to the Symposium. Please register on-line at www.tristatecacs.org or via email at info@tristatecacs.org. On-site registration will also be accepted although you are encouraged to register online ahead of time to ensure seating and meal orders. For more information, please contact Longqin Hu @ 732- 445-5291, Xiaoqiu Wu @ 609-240-9200, or Sunny Wang @ 908-231-3648.

Travel directions can be found at <http://maps.rutgers.edu/building.aspx?id=44>. Parking is available in lots 51 (on Bartholomew Rd., adjacent to Rutgers Federal Credit Union and across from the Busch Campus Center).
